HORE DELAY IN SETTLEMENT OF

Notes Given by Philadelphians to the Thomases Have Not Been Returned.

se of the Provident Savings Life Assirance Society to-day with regard to Thomas and the syndicate of Philatelphia capitalists which purchased from them, under contract, the conand bonds of the Western Ice Com-counted notes were not returned to cure the release of those yet in the sands of the Mercantile National Bank and the Hudson Trust Company.

It was stated by one of the parties to the controversy, however, that Mr. Woodruff had not yet given up the hope of securing the release of these notes, for the Thomases, and that a conference would be held late in the day if all parties could be brought to-

When Edward Lauterbach, counse

When Edward Lauterbach, counsel by the Thomases, was asked at noon whether there had been any developments in the matter during the morning, he said:

"None; absolutely none. That is all that can be said about it."

"Do you still expect an amicable settlement?"

"We do."

Former Judge Bartch, together with J. Coyle and others, members of the syndicate, called at the nince of Former Judge Morgan J. O'Brien and were closested with him for quite a while. It was learned that the request of the rupresentative of the banking institutions holding the Coyle notes for a further extension would probably be granted.

Banking Superintendent Kelsey has been very favorably impressed with the sondition of Provident affairs as he has thus far had it reported to him, and has expressed to a friend the opinion that the sais of stock by the Thomases after they secured the management of things had resulted in nothing but good for the company.
